

June 2023 – Newsletter "Research in Germany"

Dear reader,

Help us become even better by taking part in our survey and group discussion regarding your user experience on the Research in Germany website – we look forward to your feedback! However, we have not been idle in the run-up to this newsletter issue and can also present improvements and new services for your career planning that have already been implemented: have a look and see for yourself!

Also in this edition: the government's future research and innovation strategy, interesting facts about cycling in the alleged "car nation Germany", and, as usual, numerous funding offers and event recommendations.
